

Marianne Levy

I have always been drawn to working with the figure, whether it be human or animal. I often combine elements from the animal or natural world with the human form to express a fundamentally animalistic side of human nature. The results of these combinations are often surreal and hopefully humorous, albeit sometimes in a dark manner. In my work I am trying to convey an emotional truth, whether it be personal or collective, of hidden aspects of our psychology and nature.